

ShopSphere Refund Policy

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

Last Updated: January 1, 2026

1. Purpose

This Refund Policy explains when customers are eligible to receive refunds for purchases made through ShopSphere and how refunds are processed. It should be read together with the Return Policy, Order Cancellation Policy, and Terms and Conditions.

2. Refund Eligibility

Refunds may be issued for eligible cancelled orders, approved returns, products that cannot be fulfilled, shipments confirmed lost in transit, duplicate payments, or other situations where ShopSphere determines that a refund is appropriate. Approval depends on verification of the claim and compliance with the applicable policy.

3. Refund Process

Once a refund request is approved, ShopSphere initiates the refund through the original payment method whenever possible. Customers receive confirmation by email or SMS after the refund has been initiated. Financial institutions may require additional processing time before the amount appears in the customer's account.

4. Refund Timelines

UPI refunds are generally completed within two to three business days. Debit and credit card refunds typically require five to seven business days. Net banking refunds may take three to five business days. Cash on Delivery orders are refunded through bank transfer or UPI after successful verification of the customer's payment details. These timelines are estimates and may vary depending on the payment provider.

5. Partial Refunds

In certain circumstances, ShopSphere may issue a partial refund instead of a full refund. This may occur where returned products are incomplete, missing accessories, or damaged due to customer misuse after delivery, provided such action is permitted under applicable law.

6. Failed or Delayed Refunds

If a refund has been initiated but has not been credited within the expected timeframe, customers should first contact their bank or payment provider. If additional assistance is required, ShopSphere Customer Support will coordinate with the payment gateway to investigate the delay.

7. Non-Refundable Charges

Shipping charges, gift wrapping fees, installation charges, and other service fees may be non-refundable unless the refund results from an error attributable to ShopSphere, the seller, or the logistics partner.

8. Fraud Prevention

ShopSphere reserves the right to withhold or decline refunds where fraudulent activity, abuse of the return process, payment disputes, or violations of platform policies are reasonably suspected. Additional documentation may be requested before a refund is processed.

9. Contact and Policy Updates

Customers may check refund status from the My Orders section or contact ShopSphere Customer Support for assistance. ShopSphere reserves the right to modify this Refund Policy at any time, with revised versions published on the official platform.